

COLLEGE STIRRED BY GORKY "AFFAIR"

Barnard Girls at Lecture by Woman Companion.

MAY BE SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

Prof. Dewey, Who Invited Undergraduates to Attend, Severely Criticized by Authorities.

NEW YORK, May 5.—All of Barnard College, from the faculty down to the fluffiest freshman is wrought up over the reception by Prof. John Dewey, of Columbia, to a score or more Barnard girls, where the guest of honor was Mme. Andreleva, the pretty blond actress, who travels with Maxim Gorky. That there will be an investigation by the faculties of Columbia and Barnard is expected as a matter of course. This is likely to be more on the muck rake than the white-wash order, judging by the comment at the college today.

The reception to the actress, who, with her revolutionary companion, has been barred from New York hotels and cut by society women, was held at Prof. Dewey's rooms, in the Columbia Court Apartments, 431 Riverside Drive, last night. Every effort was made to keep the affair from the public, and today Prof. Dewey was in no pleasant frame of mind.

Prof. Dewey Is Angry.
He ran his fingers through his hair until it bristled in the style of a Gorky revolutionist as he said:

"I know what you want to ask me, but I will say nothing—absolutely nothing. It's a disgrace, this hounding of a man by the newspapers."

"Will you deny," asked the reporter, "that Mme. Andreleva was your guest last night?"

"I have nothing to say," he shouted.

"Are you ashamed of the fact that you introduced the actress to Barnard girls?" was the next question.

Blames Elevator Boy.
"Go to the elevator boy and ask him. That's where you ought to get your information. The reference to the elevator boy was undoubtedly due to the professor's suspicion that it was through the boy that the story became known, although he and the other employees of the place had been sworn to secrecy."

At Barnard College Dean Laura Drake Gill had not arrived when the reporter called, but an elderly woman, who said she was the financial secretary of the college, talked freely and in no uncertain way of Prof. Dewey's reception.

"We must be charitable," she said, "but nobody can doubt that Prof. Dewey displayed very, very bad taste if he invited any of our undergraduates to meet that woman. Personally, I do not know that any of our girls went there last night. If they did I feel certain it was because they did not know the identity of the woman."

Inquiry Is Likely.

"There may have been some graduates of Barnard present, for many of them are settlement workers who would listen to the woman's talk with an academic interest and without regarding her in a social way. I think Prof. Dewey showed bad taste in mixing college and social affairs. Of course, I cannot say if there will be an investigation, but it seems the most natural thing in the world that there should be."

In the reception hall of Barnard there were little knots of chattering girls, and on all sides the names of Maxim Gorky and Mme. Andreleva were heard. They were more divided in their views of the reception than were the college authorities. One tall blonde when questioned said with a sigh:

"It's all very dreadful, of course, but I wish I could see her. They say she's just sweet and I do love Gorky's tramp stories."

The reception last night was carefully planned.

Mme. Andreleva was escorted to the house by Mrs. John Martin, of Rosebank, Staten Island, in whose home she and Gorky have been guests since the hotels of New York have been closed against them.

The Russian actress and revolutionist made an address in French, which was translated to the audience by Mrs. Martin. She was heartily applauded and seemed to enjoy greatly the leaves which followed her speech.

FOOLED BY A TENDERFOOT.

Ex-Delegate Rodney of New Mexico, who has been in Washington this winter fighting for joint statehood, tells a story illustrative of the trite saying that circumstances alter cases. Some of the citizens of a certain southwestern town which was still in the class of frontier settlements devised a new method of inducing "tenderfoot" visitors to furnish entertainment for the crowd. When the stranger arrived in town and began the making of acquaintances by conventional methods the ringleaders would present to him one of the natives who was described as a marvelously accurate shot.

To satisfy the curiosity and interest invariably manifested by the stranger the marksman would consent to give an exhibition of his skill after considerable urging on the part of his friends. Raising his six shooter the celebrity would address the stranger: "Do you see that man smoking a cigar about two blocks down the street there? I'll hit the cigar without making the man bat an eye."

Bang! went the six shooter, and back came the cry up the street:

"See here, Bill, you have got to stop this thing. That's the fourth cigar you have spoiled for me today. I don't like it. Get somebody else to practice on."

The astonished stranger could always be depended on after such an exhibition "to set up" the marksman and his friends. One day there appeared a visitor less nervous than his predecessors. After the usual exhibition the stranger appeared scornful of the feat.

"That's nothing," he declared. "That does not prove you can shoot. I'll wager $100 you can't hit a barn door at 100 yards."

The marksman took him up, and followed by the crowd, retired with him to the back of the store for the test. A shot was heard and shortly afterward the alleged marksman came back looking very green.

"What's the matter, Bill?" asked the man whose duties behind the counter had kept him from enjoying the tenderfoot's discomfiture.

"Matter?" growled Bill. "Matter enough. That greenhorn set the door up edgewise!"—Boston Transcript.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO CLEAN UP CITY

Juvenile White Wings Will Rake Chicago Streets.

WORK TO BE DONE IN A DAY

Tomorrow, Protected by Policemen,
They Will Make Attack on Refuse.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Thousands of Chicago school children, armed with spades, rakes, and hoes, will enter the streets, alleys, and lawns of Chicago Monday, and assist in cleaning the city. Superintendent Doherty, of the street cleaning department, has been notified that all principals of the public schools will instruct the children to this effect when they gather in the schoolrooms.

The fifty policemen asked for by the superintendent of streets will also report to him Monday morning. They will be assigned to the various wards, and will be instructed to journey over all the territory in the districts looking for violations of the cleaning proclamation. Two officers will be assigned to the larger wards, while one officer will have to take care of the smaller ones.

Clean Big City in a Day.

If the plans of Mr. Doherty are carried to completion, Chicago certainly will be a clean city on Monday night. The alleys will be free of cans and paper, while the mattresses discarded by those moving will have been carted away. Newspapers will not litter the streets to frighten horses and present an unsightly appearance. Everything of a combustible nature must be removed from the alleys and streets, and the practice of some rascal porters who empty their cuspidors in the streets will be stopped.

"I am very much encouraged," said Superintendent Doherty yesterday afternoon. "I think Chicago will be a clean city on Monday night, and don't for a moment believe it will return to its former state after that."

Tomato Cans Prohibited.

"It will be the duty of the police to see that the city remains clean after the general cleaning it will receive Monday. I am now preparing the instructions I shall issue. Every officer will be expected to patrol his beat. If a woman throws a tomato can into the alley it will be the duty of the officer to arrest her. The punishment will be a fine of from $5 to $25.

"Men who usually throw a newspaper on the pavement when they have finished will have to get out of the habit. If they persist in it they will be arrested and fined from $5 to $25."

GRAND ARMY VETERANS PLAN FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Department of Potomac Making Arrangements for Great Event in History of Organization.

There was a meeting of the general committee on arrangements for the Memorial Day ceremonies of the Department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic, at G. A. R. Hall, last night. Reports were heard from the various subcommittees, but conclusive plans have not been completed.

Senior Vice Commander Thomas H. Martin, who presided, stated that the collections this year had been very satisfactory. The surplus, after all expenses have been paid, will be placed in the relief fund, and cannot be used for any other purpose.

The expenses connected with the ceremonies this year will be reduced as much as possible. Estimates for carriage hire are much lower than formerly and the department will not pay for officers' carriages as in previous years. There will be a larger amount spent for flowers this year, and special attention will be paid to decorating the graves of private soldiers.

The committee on music, of which Dr. Thomas Calver is chairman, reported that the Marine Band had been placed at the disposal of the committee for Memorial Day, and that it will furnish the music for the exercises at Arlington Cemetery.

Another meeting of the committee will be held next Saturday evening, when it is expected the definite plans and the names of the speakers will be announced. The Memorial Day order will be issued by the department commander this week.
